Residential 40 & 50-Gallon (Short) Electric Models

In keeping with our spirit of continuous improvement, we made changes to optimize the footprint on our 40 and 50 gallon short electric models. Please review the attached specification sheet carefully as it reflects the revised dimensions.

Model numbers for these new products will not change but they will receive a new series number (changing from 100 to a 110 series). Order entry will begin to cross your orders over to the new series once the inventory levels of the current models are depleted. We anticipate shipping the new optimized models the first week of February.

Be sure you visit our web-site to review the specification & performance data for these models and all of our products at www.hotwater.com

For more information, please contact your local A. O. Smith representative or regional manager today.

Sincerely,
